CHARGES AGAINST GEN. WOOD.

RATHBONE PRESENTS THEM TO SENATE COMMITTEE.

They Include Orders to the Courts in the Postal Cases, Accepting Gifts From a Gambling Concern, and Using an Ex-Convict to Displace Gen. Brooke.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.-Major Estes G. Rathbone was the only witness to-day before the Senate Committee on Military Affairs which is considering the charges against Gen. Wood and the protests against is confirmation as a Major-General. Major Rathbone made a number of specific charges against Gen. Wood, in connection with the administration of affairs in Cuba. In summarized form these charges were: courts in the postal cases in violation of Issuing orders and instructions to the Article 387 of the Penal Code of Cuba and in a manner prejudicial to the rights and interests of those under trial.

Authorizing the use of ex parte deposiions in the postal cases, a proceeding which is contrary to law and the principles f law, and in this case contrary to instrucions given by the Secretary of War.

Accepting gifts from an organization commonly known as "Jai Alai," to which he had granted a ten years exclusive concession, the same being a violation of the so-called Foraker law, which prohibited the granting of franchises or concessions during the occupation of the island by the tractical authorities, the acceptance of

during the occupation of the island by the American authorities, the acceptance of these gifts constituting a violation of Article 397. Penal Code of Cuba.

Complicity with another army officer in the preparation and publication of an article reflecting discreditably upon their ranking officer, in violation of an accepted canon of military service and constituting an offence commonly known as "Conduct unbecoming an officer and a gentleman."

Directing and causing the Auditor of Cuba, by a military order, to violate the law in the treatment of accounts.

law in the treatment of accounts.

Utilizing the services of an ex-convict, with whom he was in intimate personal association, in an effort to displace his superior officer and by such means to secure to himself the vacancy thus created.

Evidence, testimony and names of witnesses in support of these and all other allegations were included among the documents submitted to the committee by Mr. Rathbone.

Mr. Rathbone.

At the request of Major Rathbone the committee issued subpœnas for Ernest Lee Conant of the law firm of Page & Conant of New York and Havana and for Herbert J. Browne of Washington. Messrs. Conant and Browne are in the city and are ready to testify. Their testimony will bear on the charges that Gen. Wood accepted money from the Jai Alai gambling institution at Havana. Several other witnesses, whose names have not been made public, will be called at Major Rathbone's request.

The committee devoted several hours to examining Major Rathbone on the first charge, which was that Gen. Wood had issued orders and instructions to the Cuban that the committee of the co issued orders and instructions to the Cuban courts in the postal case in violation of the Penal Ccde. Major Rathbone filed a brief of a dozen typewritten pages containing copies of Gen. Wood's orders. He testified that he had obtained the copies personally from the court records at Havana and swore that they were true copies. He asked that the committee send for these records, which can be sent to Washington in the custody of a Cuban official.

Major Rathbone entered into the history of the postal cases at length, being confined by the committee to a recital of the alleged connection of Gen. Wood with these cases. Exhibits comprising several hundred pages were presented to the committee by Major Rathbone.

He was asked if he had an attorney, and replied that he was acting as his own attorney. There was some hesitation on the part of the committee as to the acceptance of the brief and exhibits, but as they appeared to be in legal form they were accepted and made a part of the record.

The charges relating to the gambling games. Gen. Wood's alleged connection with Major Runcie's attack upon Major-Gen. Brooke and the further charge that Major Wood acted in complicity with 'Bellairs,' the former convict, in besmirching the character of Wood's superior officer, were not reached by the committee to-day, but it was said at the adjournment that the but it was said at the adjournment that the day until everything bearing on all these charges had been elicited. SAYSTHERE MUST BE A CAMPAIGN OF EDUCATION FOR THE BILL.

The Senate Is All Right, but Watch the House-What Must Be Done for Our Merchant Marine, the Keynote of the Speeches at a Big Naval Dinner.

Mr. Griscom, Senator Hanna said, had done great work for the success of the bill. He closed with these remarks: Mr. Griscom, Senator Ramia said, had done great work for the success of the bill. He closed with these remarks:

We have a great country, and we are proud of it. We are a cosmopolitan people and proud of our success, but we are not proud of our merchant marine. One of the most important things we need to-day is an auxiliary to our navy. Those of us who had experience in the Spanish war discovered this. Our farmers did not know nor appreciate our need in this direction, but I told them recently that if there should be a war between this and any other important maritime country their grain would rot in their granaries without an auxiliary to our navy.

Mr. Griscom has been a partner in this crime with me. He has been with me in trying to plunge our arms up to the shoulder in the public treasury—at least so we have been accused. But public opinion will settle this one. In conclusion let me make a prophecy, gentlemen. In your educational campaign, let me say the Senate is all right. Begin on the House.

HOW CUBA CAN GET A LOAN. President Palma Tells Congress of Conditions Made by New York Bankers.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. HAVANA, Nov. 20 .- President Palma today sent to the Senate a special message on the subject of the proposed loan of $35,000,-000, and the Senate referred it to a committee. The President says that shortly after the bill providing for the loan was passed on Feb. 27 some financial agents spoke to the Cuban representatives in Paris and London regarding the matter. They said they considered the condition of public letting an insuperable obstacle, and some of them declared that it would be easier to raise the money through Anglo-American houses. The same indications were received from the United States.

The message then relates the experiences of the loan commissioners in New York. The commissioners consulted prominent bankers and were so fortunate as to apply to capitalists who were little affected by the monetary crisis then existing in the United States.

Ultimately the bankers first consulted nade known their conditions, which were as follows: That the Republic of Cuba be authorized to issue bonds of external debt to an amount not to exceed $35,00,000, at $4.84 per pound sterling or its equivalent in other foreign money, the bonds to pay interest at 5 per cent., to be redeemable in forty years, and both principal and interest to be exempted from all taxes in Cuba. It was furthermore provided that Cuba should pledge her good faith and credit for the redemption of the bonds and the punctual payment of the interest, and as a special guarantee for the interest payments and the redemption of the bonds the Executive should be authorized to devote, pledge and hypothecate for the purpose a sufficient amount of the customs eccipts in any form the Executive might think fit. The Executive should also be authorized to agree to these conditions for the issue of the loan and to negotiate the sale of the bonds.

In view of these conditions the President submits the matter for the consideration of Congress.

He appealed to the Welshmen employed in the tin plate trade, and pointed out th extent to which that industry had suffered owing to the building up of the American tin plate trade behind the McKinley tariff. He said that before 1891 the production of Welsh tin plate was increasing by leaps and bounds. Its increase between 1872 and 1892 was probably unequalled in any large trade in industrial history. The bulk of the business was with the United States. The exports of tin places doubled ac successive ten years until 1892, when they amounted to 450,000 tons. Then came the prohibitive duty in the United States, and the exports declined, until in 1902, only 65,000 tons were sent to the United States.

It need not be thought that even that amount of trade was going to be kept. It would be lost as soon as the United States was able to meet the whole demand. She was already turning out 400,000 tons, and the British would never be able to disturb such an industry. What was lost was lost and would never be got back, but the trade might have been kept. Mr. Chamberlain argued that if the matter Mr. Chamberlain argued that if the matter had been treated in a businesslike manner a reciprocal arrangement could have been made by which the tin plate trade could have been retained. He warned his hearers that the Americans would soon be in a position to dump their surplus tin plates into Great Britain, as already they were into Great Britain, as aireac dumping rails, wire, &c. He did not blame the Americans for this, and said that they were perfectly right in doing it, so long as

O'BRIEN JURY FOR HUSBAND.

FINDS THE EX-SHERIFF GUILT-LESS AND HIS WIFE GUILTY.

e Corespondent Out of the Three He Named Exonerated—Lawyer Says Mrs. O'Brien Is Locked Out of Her Home, O'Brien That She Hasn't Returned to It.

The second trial of the O'Brien divorce suit and counter suit resulted in a victory esterday for ex-Sheriff James O'Brien and utter defeat for his wife, Abbie Ella O'Brien. The jury, which had been listening to the evidence on both sides for two weeks before Supreme Court Justice Leventritt, found a verdict after pondering for about three hours and a half, which exonerated O'Brien of the charges preferred by his wife against him and nine young women corespondents. At the same time the jury decided that Mrs. O'Brien had misconducted herself with Suith and Powers, two of the three corespondents named by the former Sheriff. The jury found that she had not misconducted herself with Jack Roche, a Maiden lane jeweller, who completed the trio of corespondents. At the previous trial the jury disagreed. Mrs. O'Brien's lawyer told the newspapers this story last night:

"Mrs. O'Brien, after the court proceedings, took her daughters Ella and Alice and went to the O'Brien below and Alice and and Alic and went to the O'Brien home at 11 West Eighty-sixth street. Her key turned the lock, but the door was bolted on the inside, and she was unable to get in. She then sought temporary quarters at the Hotel Endicott. "Meanwhile she informed me of the evident refusal of her husband's servants evident refusal of her husband's servants to let her in, and I asked the police for aid. That was refused. Mr. O'Brien's lawyer expressed great surprise at the occurrence."

The lawyer telephoned to Police Head-quarters admittance had been refused to Mrs. O'Brien at her husband's house and asked that a policeman be sent there. Policeman Hoch was sent to the house from the West 100th street station. He was told there that Mrs. O'Brien had not tried to get in.

HOME TESTING A Sure and Easy Test on Coffee.

To decide the all important question of coffee, whether or not it is really the approaching fixed disease, one should make a test of 10 days by leaving off coffee entirely and using well made Postum

If relief follows you may know to a certainty that coffee has been your vicious and killing enemy. Of course you can take it back to your heart again if you like to keep sick. A lady says: "I had suffered with stomach trouble, nervousness and terrible sick headaches ever since I was a little child for my people were always great coffee drinkers and let us children have all we wanted. I got so I thought I could not live without coffee and I would not acknowledge that it was causing my suf-

"Then I read so many articles about Postum that I decided to give it a fair trial. I had not used it two weeks in place of coffee until I began to feel like a different person. The headaches and nervousness disappeared and where I used to be sick two or three days out of a week while drinking coffee I am now well and strong and sturdy seven days a week, thanks

"I had been using Postum three months to-day on the railway between Cascaes and had never been sick a day when I thought I would experiment and see if reported to have been killed.

A number of passengers, including the Duchess of Palmella, the Queen's chief lady-in-waiting, were severely injured.

It was so ill I was soon convinced that offee was the cause of all my misery and I went back to Postum again in a hurry with the result that I was soon again well and strong and determined to use Postum the rest of my days and to leave coffee alone in the future. Thieves Force Citizens to Stay at Home

While Pals Crack the Safe. GREEN MOUNTAIN, Iowa, Nov. 20 .- A riolent explosion aroused nearly all the people in this village at 3 o'clock this morning. The first to approach within a block of the Green Mountain State Bank were confronted by masked men with rifles. who ordered them back home on penalty of being shot. The citizens returned home, the robbers patrolling the streets. These men held the town at bay while two others wrecked the big bank safe. They got betwenn $1,000 and $2,000 and left town on a Great Western hand car, going south toward Des Moines.
